Who We Are

Romagna+ is an Italian organisation that recently switched its legal form from “Informal group of young people” to association. Among our objectives are: promoting active citizenship, nudging youngsters towards a greater participation in social, economic and cultural life, especially taking part to Erasmus+ projects. We also aim at raising awareness about sustainability, and the urgent need for change, which must be considered as an opportunity rather than a threat. Romagna + strongly wants to foster international youth cooperation, through collaborations, projects and events with foreign partner organisations. As a matter of fact, we offer opportunities to better know different countries and cultures. Our activities are always operating in a tolerant and inclusive environment.

Our Mission

We want to contribute, making youngsters feel a relevant and active part of the European Union, making them aware of the importance of every single citizen. We believe in a society capable of accepting everybody, including people different from each other, looking at these differences as an added value, appreciating instead of fighting them.

The Project

Our project aims to engage European youth in comparative discussions on national situations, emphasizing commonalities at the European level. Through workshops and expert consultations, we seek to equip participants with skills to recognize and combat fake news. By addressing the critical need for accurate information, we aim to foster improved communication and societal resilience against misinformation, particularly among students and young professionals preparing for an increasingly technology-driven future.
